

Use of cookies

MRG uses cookies and other technologies to collect information on the website. The collection of such information helps MRG to facilitate your browsing of the website; it enables us to improve the website, to promote trust and safety and to monitor the web page flow of the website.

If you decline or reject all cookies, you may not be able to access some parts of the website, and some features may not function properly or be available to you.

If you choose to accept our cookies, you can also delete such cookies later from your computer. If you delete the cookies, any settings and preferences controlled by those cookies will be deleted and will need to be recreated when you visit the website subsequently.

MRG may also track certain information regarding your use of the website with JavaScript code, web beacons and third-party website analytics providers.

What are cookies?

Cookies are text files containing small amounts of information which are downloaded to your device when you visit a website. Cookies are then sent back to the originating website on each subsequent visit, or to another website that recognises those cookies. Cookies are useful because they allow a website to recognise a user's device. You can find more information about cookies at: <https://ico.org.uk/global/cookies/>, www.allaboutcookies.org and www.youronlinechoices.eu

Cookies have various functions, like letting you navigate between pages efficiently, remembering your preferences, and generally improving the user experience. They can also help to ensure that adverts you see online are more relevant to you and your interests.

Some cookies are allocated to your device only for the duration of your visit to a website, and these are called session-based cookies. These cookies automatically expire when you close your browser. Another type of cookie known as a "persistent" cookie would remain on your device for a set period.

In addition, please note that some websites contain third-party cookies (i.e. cookies that are set by a third-party domain).

There are various categories of cookies.

MRG only uses: Strictly Essential Cookies

These cookies are essential in order to enable you to move around the website and use its features, such as accessing secure areas of the website. Without these cookies, services that you have selected, like shopping baskets or e-billing, cannot be provided. Because these cookies are strictly necessary, we do not need to ask for your consent to use them.

You may at any time restrict, disable or delete the cookies by adjusting your web browser settings. For more information, please see the 'Managing Cookies' section below. However, you may not be able to access some parts of the website and some features may not function properly or be available to you.